CHAS. E. JOHNSTON RE-ELECTED IN BOW RIVER CONSTITUENCY

Charles E. Johnston, M.P. and Social Credit candidate in the Bow River riding was returned as representative in the Dominion Parliament at the polls on Monday, with a large majority. While all returns are not in, the figures released Tuesday give the following number of votes to the various candidates:

Johnston, S.C.	5999
McKinnon, P.C.	3728
Caldwell, C.C.F.	2382
Southern, L.	1906
Brown, P.	1803

Mr. Johnston has represented the Bow River constituency in the federal house since 1935 and the overwhelming majority he received at the polls on Monday indicated that he is still the popular choice of the people of this riding.

At last, it has been a long time since the cries of agony of 500,000 Canadian citizens suffering from "The Devil's Torment"—arthritis.

At the opening of the present session of the British Columbia Legislature, in reply to the speech from the Throne, Dr. F.W. Green, M.L.A., member for East Kootenay had the intestinal fortitude to call to the attention of the House the great inroads arthritis has made on the industrial life of Canada and Dr. Green called for the expenditure of government funds to battle this horrible crippling disease.

In an eloquent address, Doctor Green called for the installation of a sanatorium in British Columbia and suggested the government owned buildings at Terrace as a suitable home for such an institution.

It would appear that Dr. Green is the only legislator of the three provincial Houses—British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan—with sufficient foresight to realize that some move by the government will have to be made in the very near future to curb the vicious onslaught of arthritis.

Outside of the misery and torture, victims of arthritis undergo, there is the economical side to be considered. Thousands of men are lost yearly and because of the provincial legislatures are today paying out thousands of dollars to pay for the ravages of this disease, which is recognized as

THOMAS BISHOP DIES AT HOME EAST OF THREE HILLS

Thomas Bishop, old timer of the Carbon area, died at his home east of Three Hills on Wednesday, June 6th, at the age of 71 years. Deceased came to the district in 1904 and took up farming, having resided here since that time.

Surviving are his wife, three sons, Bill at Victoria; Tom, who recently arrived home from overseas; and James at home. Also one adopted daughter, and two sisters, Bertha and Mrs. Landreth, and a brother Sam in Ontario.

Burial took place in Sarcee cemetery in the Ghost Pine district, with Three Hills Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

RETAIL MERCHANTS STAMP DAY ON FRIDAY, June 29th

One of the things that is causing concern to the National War Finance Committee of Canada is the attitude which seems to be prevalent throughout the Dominion with regard to any further financial aid due to the termination of hostilities in Europe. The prevailing opinion seems to be that now that war in Europe is over that no more money will be required to get Canada back to a normal basis. No thing could be further from the truth. There is a tremendous amount of work to be done. The war in the East has yet to be won. The young men and the young women of Canada have to be brought home and rehabilitated. The manufacturing concerns which have been devoted all their time and energy in war production have to be reconverted to peace time requirements. All this requires a tremendous amount of money.

On Friday, June 29th a provincial wide Stamp Day is to be held and it is the duty of every citizen of this Province to show that they still retain their sense of responsibility by buying War Savings Stamps through their local merchants on that date.

The greatest physical cause of disability, discouragement and unemployment known.

In Alberta the move to bring in legislation to care for arthritis cases got as far as the caucus, and was thrown out because more important legislation had the right of way. The question of government right and equity in oil leases of the province received serious and due consideration, but the health of the owners of those oil lands was not of sufficient importance.

It might be well to call to the attention of our legislators the fact that there are more sufferers from arthritis than from cancer, heart disease and tuberculosis combined. That approximately one out of every five medical cases in the army is some form of arthritis. The treatment for arthritis is slow and thus financially prohibitive to the average person. The vast majority of arthritis victims are of the wage earning class, those who can least afford the expense of hospitalization and treatment.

The economic worth of the province is depreciated yearly by millions due to loss of man hours labelled "Arthritis" yet our legislators must give preference to the few party thousands they are capable of visualizing in the oil and kindred industries.

Our legislature will spend thousands promoting the use of certain type of grain, an irrigation scheme to that grain, the smart method of marketing the wheat, yet they cannot see the unfortunate victim on crutches full of misery and pain and his family impoverished. "They cannot see the forest for the trees."

Little hope is given for a substantial wheat crop in France this season. The neglected lands, the poor condition, little fuel available for mechanical cultivation and a great deal of livestock had been taken away by the Germans.

The Canadian maple syrup production this season was only 20 to 25 per cent of normal, the lowest in the past fifteen years. The poor production is attributed to lack of frost in the ground during the early spring and the record spell of warm weather which struck central Canada late in March.

SUMMERFALLOWING

(By Major H.G.L. Strange)

On these prairies farmers summerfallow to conserve moisture and to control weeds. The earlier the summerfallow work is started the better will be the results. Land to be summerfallowed should have one working over as early as possible to kill early weeds and to fit the land to receive moisture. The Dominion Experimental Station at Lethbridge have found that the best implement for this working is the one-way disc, but in some areas the plough has to be used. Lethbridge recommends, however, that the one way disc should not be used for subsequent cultivation, that either the Duckfoot Cultivator or the Rod Weeder are better implements, and that all cultivation should be done as shallow as possible so as to leave as much trash on the surface, in order to lessen the risk of soil blowing. To preserve the most moisture the land should be worked as little as possible.

able, yet to control the weeds the land must be worked more often. At all events the rule would seem to be to work the land as least as possible consistent with keeping down the weeds. If wild oats are bad they should not be cultivated until they are at least 3 inches in height, for if smaller than that the cut portions are likely to root again and grow.

It is reported from Victoria, B.C. that the B.C. government may soon offer a trade in strips of land in the far northern part of the province for a 25-mile strip in the State of Washington, between border points of Patterson, south of Roseland, and Laurier, south of Cascade. When this deal is completed it will give an easy grade road link between these two points and will eliminate the present precipitous, sharp-curved and treacherous highway, now between Roseland and Cascade.

A Vital Industry

SCARCITY OF LABOR AND MACHINERY are problems with which all Canadian producers have had to contend since 1939, and it is unlikely that any other industry has been more seriously affected by those difficulties than agriculture. After the outbreak of war, several hundred thousand men and women left Canadian farms to enter the armed services or to work in essential industries. This created a critical shortage of farm labor at a time when it was imperative that production levels be not only maintained, but raised, to fulfill the increased demands for meat and other food products both at home and abroad. Figures show, however, that the number of men gainfully employed on farms increased from 983,000 in 1943 to 1,025,000 in 1944, and that in the same period the number of men between the ages of 14 and 64 living on farms rose from 745,000 to 780,000.

Marketing No Problem Now With the end of hostilities in Europe there will be no doubtless be a further easing of both the labor situation and the shortage of farm tools and machinery. Marketing, often a serious problem to farmers in normal times, is one with which Canadian farmers are not likely to have to deal for some time. Agreements now in effect for shipping beef, bacon, cheese, eggs and other foodstuffs to the United Kingdom will be in effect for two years, and the quantities of products required for this purpose are enormous. In 1944 food shipments from Canada to Britain included 80,704,650 bushels of wheat, 685,000,000 pounds of bacon, 5,629,639 barrels of corn, 128,872,960 pounds of cheese, 132,000,000 pounds of beef, and many other items. The British Ministry of Food has asked for as much of these products in 1945 as was shipped in 1944, and in addition, all the surplus beef and pork which can be supplied.

Wartime Needs To Continue As well as making these great quantities of food available for shipment overseas, Canadian farmers are expected to meet the needs of civilians here and also to supply the armed forces in the Dominion. There have been other heavy demands on Canada's food supply during wartime, including the packing of food for the Forces of War and the "victualing" of the great fleets of merchant ships departing from our harbors. These ships, often numbering 100 a week, have been supplied with food not only for the outward voyage, but often for the return trip as well. They have frequently been under attack in ports where food was scarce and could not be secured as readily as was possible here. Canada has also been shipping food to other United Nations, including Russia, Greece, North Africa and the liberated countries of Europe. These facts all show that farming in Canada has been a war industry of the first rank. They also show that although the fighting in Europe has ended, the Canadian farmer will have to continue for some time to produce on the same scale as he did during the war. It is to be hoped, however, that he will labor under less difficulty in respect to man-power and machinery as the country as a whole gradually reverts to more normal conditions.

Polar Flying Tests

Scientists Will Make Flights Over The North Pole

An R.A.F. expedition has departed for Iceland to begin a series of flights over the Geographic and Magnetic North Poles for scientific purposes, the British air ministry announced.

The party is flying in four "Aries" which flew around the world and toured America, Canada and South Africa last autumn.

Plans call for a flight over the land. Other flights will be made to Geographic Pole and return to Iceland. Other flights will be made over the magnetic Pole to Canada and from Canada over the Magnetic Pole to Britain.

The specific objects of the flight will be to study navigation conditions imposed by Polar flying, to examine behaviours of compass, radio installations and other instruments and to collect magnetic and meteorological data.

The Lancaster carries special equipment and enough supplies to maintain the party for four weeks. Wing Commander D. C. McKinley, captain of the plane, is in charge of the expedition. McKinley, a pioneer of the Atlantic foray, service, flew Harry Hopkins on his trip to Russia.

When Hot Box Develops Electrical Alarm Advances Train Crew

The Pullman-Standard Company says it has developed a method to detect electrical faults caused by "hot boxes" on railroad cars.

Officials of the company described the method of detecting electrical faults which they said would alert train crews when axle journal boxes on passenger cars become overheated.

They said the device would give warning "long before the danger of an accident develops."

Description of the alarm system was made during a preview of plans for new cars which the company is planning to produce for production after the war.

They exhibit, "Tomorrow's Trains" today, was made public under auspices of the Department of Commerce.

Company spokesmen said that the safety device for journal boxes is already in use in some of its cars and that it will be developed further. They described it thus:

When journal boxes on individual cars are operating efficiently a yellow light glows, but when they become overheated, a red light is flashed in the affected car, and a warning buzzer sounds.

At present, they said, circuits are hooked up for individual cars, but eventually the existence of a hot box anywhere on the train will be flashed electrically to the train's cab, warning the engineer to halt until the trouble can be rectified.

The Cost Of War

May Take Years To Compute The Loss Of Human Lives And Material

The cost—material and human—of the struggle to eradicate German militarism may take years to compute but some details have been released on the heels of unconditional surrender.

Britain's war damage will be well over $4,000,000,000, Sir John Anderson, Chancellor of the Exchequer, estimated in the House of Commons while from the Russians came a rough estimate of the cost in human lives of their advance.

Matthew Hatt, a CBC correspondent, quoted the estimate of a Russian general in Berlin that in saving their country and marching to triumph in the Reich capital the Russians had lost between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 dead, half soldiers and half civilians.

Previous figures of the high human cost to the Western Allies have not been given.

One hint of the monetary cost, however, was given in Washington to Henry Morgenthau Jr., United States treasury secretary, who said the cost of the United States part in saving Germany to her knees and fighting so far against the Japanese had cost $27,700,000,000.

The Royal Navy, stronger than it has ever been in history, paid heavily for its work in keeping the seas clear. Losses included five battleships, seven aircraft carriers, 28 cruisers, 120 merchant cruisers, 28 corvettes, six frigates, 14 sloops, 51 minesweepers and minelayers and 250 smaller craft.

Huge Flying Boat

Britain's Shetland Is Faster Than United States' Mars

Britain's biggest airplane—the Shetland, with a 110-foot hull—has emerged from wartime secrecy.

The huge flying boat, designed for world-wide patrol and reconnaissance, was described by Sir John Blandford, British air minister, as faster than the United States air giant Mars, although "not quite so big."

It was disclosed that one Shetland had been completed and successfully flown. A second, still under construction, is being re-designed into a 70-passenger transatlantic liner—a two-decked cruiser with a promenade and cocktail bar among its features.

London reports the lowest infant mortality rate in the history of England and Wales was recorded in 1944, despite the fact that throughout the year a large number of bombs and her hospitals and medical services generally were carrying the terrible burden imposed by war.

Britain's birth rate for the year was the highest since 1928 and thus at the end of six years of total warfare, England had gained the satisfaction that a new generation will some day be carrying on for her despite the destruction which the Empire to its foundations.—Boston Post.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—I applied for my new ration book last week and when I received it found coupons had been removed. Are the clerks in the ration office allowed to remove these coupons?

A—Yes, the clerks are instructed to remove the coupons which became void before you applied for your new book. The books only contain coupons from the date of application because it is taken for granted that a person does not require ration coupons until he or she applies for the ration book.

Q—My landlord has just given me a six months' notice to vacate the house I rent from him. He says he needs the quarters for his daughter and son-in-law. Can he do this?

A—Your landlord has given you the proper notice to vacate, on the proper grounds, but if the notice falls due any time between September 30th and the following April 30th, you are legally permitted to stay until you are until next April 30th.

Q—Does brown sugar take the same number of coupons as white sugar?

A—Yes. One regular sugar coupon will purchase one pound of any kind of sugar. Cane preserves coupon is good for one pound.

Q—I am leaving for my summer cottage early in June and would be glad to rent my city home furnished for four months but I understand I have to give six months' notice to a tenant. Is this correct, and of course, I couldn't possibly be placed in that awkward position?

A—If you rent your quarters for a period of less than six months, you are without the six months' notice to vacate. You just need a rental agreement at the end of the period for which you are renting. The same provision is absolutely necessary in the case of the lease of apartments and when they are away for the summer.

LIVE TODAY

Many a man struggles all his life to arrive and then finds there is nowhere else to go. The place he has arrived at isn't one-two-three with some of the places he has passed by.

If you've got fifty cents you had better go to the circus today, the elephant will never look so big nor the giraffe so tall. Live today. Sleep in the finest of indoor sports. It is better that fine gold and precious stones. You get it when you live one day at a time. Play square with yourself, be at least ordinarily neighborly. Laugh a bit now and live so that the man who lives next door will know you for a good fellow. If you do these things you'll have mighty few worries and you'll know what long life and happiness really are.

PENICILLIN—WONDER DRUG

Sir Alexander Fleming, the discoverer of penicillin, told doctors and surgeons in London recently that the drug could stop the spread of a carbuncle in two days. He prophesied anyone with a sore throat would just go to a drug store and get a penicillin lozenge and the sore throat would disappear. Enterprising druggists will eventually put a penicillin lipstick on the market. Penicillin is the ideal antiseptic, he said, because it is non-poisonous and because it is impossible to over-dose a patient with it.

LARGE WAR PRODUCTION

More than 5 million cannon shells, 5 million anti-tank mines, a million complete Sten machine guns and 7 million Sten magazines, formed part of the wartime output of a well-known London firm which before the war manufactured high quality toys. The firm has also made 6,000 all-metal gliders, 25,000 rocket-propelled gliders, 10,000 big trucks for the use of Commandos and airborne troops and many other items on the secret list.

A train halted a moment at the station and the traveller reached out, called a small boy and said: "Son, here's fifty cents. Get me a twenty-five cent sandwich and get one for yourself, and hurry!" Just as the train pulled out, the boy ran up to the window. "Here's your quarter, mister," he shouted. "They only had one sandwich."

NEW TYPE WASHING MACHINE

A new revolutionary type of electric washing machine, developed in the United Kingdom, will make it possible for every housewife. The machine applies to laundering the principle of the ship's screw in the form of an impeller device which is far more efficient than the older agitator device which it replaces. Other new technical devices incorporated are an exceptionally lightweight speed reducer, a new form of clutch and an automatic, completely fool proof safety device on the attached wringer. Starting with about 1,000 machines a week, production will be rapidly stepped up to between 100,000 and 150,000 a year.

CUTS MILEAGE TO VANCOUVER

Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of public works for B.C., recently issued a statement announcing the final survey of the Hope-Princeton route has been started by his department and will be pushed ahead to completion early this summer.

Mr. Anscomb also announces the cost of the completion of the Hope-Princeton highway is estimated at $2,600,000. The government has announced its intention to put this road through as a post-war project. When the Princeton-Hope cut-off is completed, it will shorten the distance between Vancouver and points located on Highway No. 3 in Alberta by at least 100 miles.

ANOTHER ELECTION

The method used in the election of Alberta Wheat Pool delegates ordinarily provides that one-half of the total number of sub-districts shall be elected each year. Due to the fact that there has been a rearrangement of the boundaries of the sub-districts, seventy new delegates will have to be elected this year. The 35 delegates in the odd-numbered sub-districts will be elected for two-year terms and the 35 in the even-numbered sub-districts for one-year terms.

Nomination blanks have been forwarded to each member of the Wheat Pool together with a list of members in the sub-district; also full instructions as to the method of nomination. Nominations must be in the Alberta Wheat Pool office, Calgary, by 5 o'clock on the afternoon of June 30th, 1945.

It is important that all Pool members should interest themselves in this matter. Any ten members can nominate a candidate for the office of delegate.

"Here comes our cheque Mummy!"

All over Canada, in cities, towns, villages and on farms, hundreds of thousands of men and women watch for the postman to bring dependents' allowance cheques as other people look for pay-day. They are people of all ages whose breadwinners are away on active service. They include returned men not yet back in civil life.

And soon there will be hundreds of thousands more back from the war. They will receive cheques to help them buy civilian clothes, to go to college, to get technical or vocational training, to start in business for themselves, or to set up as farmers or fishermen.

The banks have to be prepared to cash all official cheques for these and a dozen other purposes—and to do so anywhere in Canada without charge. In fact, the banks supply Canada with the nationwide machinery to facilitate a grateful country's plans for restoring service men and women to civilian life.

This is a tremendous task. It will entail a vast amount of bookkeeping. But you can be sure that your banks will take it in their stride without impairing regular banking service.

SAILORS RELATE THEIR EXPERIENCES

H.M.C.S. Athabaskan Survivors
Rescued From Prison Ship

Survivors of H.M.C.S. Athabaskan have returned to a friendly port from prison camp in northern Germany where they were held since the destroyer was torpedoed in the English Channel April 29, 1941, off Virge Island, not far from the West Peninsula.

Some came from Luebeck but the majority arrived from British naval prison between Bremen and Hamburg where all were held for several days before the move kept in or near hiding places determined not to let the guards muster them. They dug underground, hid on rafters of buildings escaped through trap doors, hid under floors and even cramped themselves for hours in lockers.

Lieut. Robin Mayward, R.C.N., of Duncan, B.C., said officers and ratings were separated in Marlag camp and the only way he could make contact with them was by bringing the guards.

"I saw them only five times after we were captured," he said. "But I know they were made out all right. I got eight weeks' solitary confinement and they grumbled me constantly. I just refused to answer questions. I was in a stone house so dark and dingy it would drive anyone mad. I made the mistake of asking them why they hated Jews and got a five-hour lecture on the question."

L.S. Allen, Treasurer of Toronto and Brockville, spent much of his time in prison studying mathematics from books borrowed from fellow prisoners, explain. "It helped me to keep my mind to do and broke the boredom."

The youngest member of the group was Stoker Bob Hopkins, of St. John's, Que., who escaped in March by slipping inside a locker every time a guard appeared. He was 17 years old. Wilfred of Vancouver had the toughest time. He got merchant navy prisoners who were not being evacuated to cover him up with pieces of wood in a locker and stayed cooped up there four hours after.

Lieut. Dick Stevenson of Montreal was on the Luebeck march with Athabaskan officers and ratings. Lanthier of Montreal, Lieut. W. Clark of Montreal and several other Canadian officers.

"We left the camp April 10, walked about 10 miles the first day," Lieut. Stevenson said. "Each of us carried a bit of about 10 pounds of food, most of it from Red Cross parcels."

Barrage Balloons

Proved A Great Menace To Britain's Electricity Supplies

Barrage balloons were the war's greatest menace to Britain's electricity supplies, and accounted for nearly three-quarters of the "faults" in the system.

Lifting the security black-out on the Central Electricity Board's activities, the 1944 annual report published recently, disclosed that in November, 1939, balloons broke loose in Northwest England and drifted over the whole length of Britain, affecting no fewer than 16 undertakings and damaging the Thames crossing lines before finally disappearing out to sea.

Four-Screw Carrier

H.M.S. Indefatigable Is First One In The Royal Navy

H.M.S. Indefatigable, one of the four British fleet aircraft carriers which took part in attacks on enemy oil refineries in Sumatra at the beginning of the year, is the first four-screw carrier in the Royal Navy. Her four engines, together developing a total of more than 15,000 horsepower, are capable of raising a speed of considerably more than 30 knots. Each engine drives an independent shaft and propeller.—Montreal Gazette.

History Repeats Itself

Nazi Atrocities Found By Bryce Commission After Last War

Thirty years ago Lord Bryce, long British ambassador to the United States, headed a commission which made a thorough investigation of German atrocities in Belgium in the early days of World War I.

The findings of the Bryce commission were so similar to the reports which in recent weeks have come from Nazi prison camps that they might well be read by those who believe that history repeats itself with but minor variations.

While the German atrocities of the early days of Belgium occupation in 1914 affected a relatively small number of civilians, they included, according to the Bryce report, poisoning, wounding, pillaging of booty, rape, mutilation of both men and women, flagging, deportations, rape and murder.

In this light there was little occasion for surprise at what has been found in Nazi prison camps in the last few months.

In the light of our indisposition to believe that the Germans were guilty of savagery of about every known kind in the other war, and this in the face of unimpeachable evidence, it is a fair presumption that we shall need to be on our guard in the years ahead against the representation that the conditions reported from German prison camps in 1945 were grossly exaggerated.

Many Americans preferred not to believe the Bryce report at the end of the last war, and forget entirely its findings and, in fact, of its existence. As we turn to the problem of what to do with Germany now that she has been unconditionally defeated, we would do well to believe the well-established reports of her savagery in both world wars and to remember them. Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THAT FOR REPARATIONS

Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, borrowed a nickel from a reporter in San Francisco so that two little British boys—with the help of a Japanese prison camp still in their minds—might hear an American juke box for the first time. The boys were members of a group of more than 60 British subjects repatriated from the Philippines and en route to England.

Food For Thought

Sports Writer Sees Clearly When War Will Really Be Over

Jim Coleman, sports writer of The Toronto Globe and Mail, wrote the best piece on victory published in any Canadian daily. News reproduces it with gratitude.

The war isn't over. The war isn't over for the maimed, the blind and the bereaved. The war isn't over for the weak and the hungry. The war isn't over for our own dead. The war isn't over until we have learned to recognize another Ethiopia, another Spain, when we see it. The war isn't over until Gentile can live with Jew; until intolerance and bigotry have been banished. The war isn't over, for instance, until Negroes can play baseball on the same field with whites.

The war isn't over until China—which, for a decade, has stood out against aggression—has been freed. This war was fought for a simple principle which has been established, time and time again, on the streets of our own Canadian cities. It's the principle which, reduced to simple terms, reads: "No bully is going to shove the little fellows around." News, Toronto.

Cease Fire Order

Man Who Telegraphed The Order In 1918 Wants To Meet The Man Who Sent It In Second War

The man who telegraphed the "cease fire" order from the British headquarters to the British forces on the western front on November 11, 1918, wants to meet the radio telephonist who sent out the "cease fire" to end the second European war. Frank Hilder, Pennington, retired post office worker, of Hove, Sussex, was supervisor-in-charge of signals at the Earl Haig's staff. At 8:13 a.m. on Nov. 11, 1918, he received from a staff officer the "cease fire" telegram. He transmitted the message to all armies on the western front.

Mr. Pennington, who is now a veteran, has been entertaining the troops in this way. He is too old for the army. Hitler's bombs killed his home.

A camel cannot go without water longer than three days, without long strength.

A Vast Fortress

Defenders Of Berlin Made Last Stand In Underground City

The fortress beneath the Tiergarten where the defenders of Berlin made their last stand was in reality a great underground city. It housed many residents of Berlin long after vast portions of the German capital were reduced to rubble. The Soviet army newspaper Red Star said.

Scores of Nazi officials killed themselves and their families there rather than submit to capture, the paper declared.

Nazi leaders operated from the underground fortress.

Gobblers (the propaganda minister) and his family moved from his gorgeous castle to a depth of 70 feet underground. A microphone was installed there and it was from there that Gobblers shouted his last speeches.

Gobblers's suburban residence was protected like a fortress. Walls and vaults were several feet thick and made of a special concrete and armor plate. Everything was electrified, with current supplied from a private power plant.

Freedom In Norway

People Are Hungry, But Eating In Liberty

After five years of enslavement and privation Norway is free again. His people are hungry, but eating in their liberty. Fortunately food is already coming in from Sweden while the German conquerors withdraw.

They never had a chance to lay the country waste, as they threatened to do for the military collapse at home came too swiftly. The Norwegian industrial plant is almost intact. Norwegian cities are not ash heaps. Norway has half her merchants, the reigning family is respected, there is little political tension. With the immediate help which she must have, this northeastern of the United Nations should be one of the first in Europe to rise from the wreckage of war.—New York Times.

The Jewish word for Bible is "Torah".

EFFECTIVENESS OF STRATEGIC BOMBING

Nuremberg Industrialists Say It Was Most Telling After 1913

The German industrialists of Nuremberg gave John McCormack of the New York Times impressive testimony about the effectiveness of the strategic bombing of Germany. One is a high official of the Siemens-Schuckert Company, manufacturers of industrial and engineering equipment; the other the director of a factory that produced one-eighth of the precision screws required by German tanks, locomotives, aircraft and motor vehicles. The two men agreed that down to and through 1943 strategic bombing had not interfered seriously with production. But after 1943 that bombing steadily became more effective. It cut off shipments of raw materials for the factories and shipments of finished goods outward bound. It wrecked the homes of workers, and the effect was overwhelming, yet it is of interest to observe that both witnesses spoke of the effectiveness of a single raid in March, 1945, when one bomb hit the oil tanks in the transformer plant and stopped for the duration of the war manufacture of large transformers needed by chemical and steel plants.

Other correspondents have sent complete lists of persons killed but correspondents now in Germany can help the historians by assembling now accounts of lives lost, and local history—eyewitness testimony telling what strategic bombing actually did. New York Sun.

Movie Censorship

All Films Shown In Canada Are Censored Before Release

Every film shown in the motion-picture theatres of Canada is censored before exhibition. Most people know this. Once a year the Ontario Board of Censors issues a report, written by two men selected, and, on previous occasions, it makes interesting reading.

Altogether, the Ontario board reviewed 1,500 theatrical films. Of this number, 482 were feature pictures. United States producers were responsible for 1,476 of the 1,800 films mentioned. British producers for 89 films. Canada for 18, the remainder coming from Russia and other countries. Altogether 163 films were "censored" before release, one was rejected and three were still "under consideration." Among the features, 117 were "altered."

The Ontario motion-picture censorship also passes film advertising. This is of importance, because some of the advertising resorted to often includes vulgar and indecent material. The exploitation of the "sex angle" is most subject to abuse. The reports say that 184 pieces of advertising were omitted last year. Of the total, 228 were rejected in Ontario and another 66 advertised.

Mr. Silverthorne's report places chief emphasis on what he calls "the most important development in motion-picture exhibition in a quarter of a century." This is the increasing circulation of British pictures. During the year, 43 British feature films were released, as against 24 during the previous twelve months. The coming of the Odeon British company to Canada is viewed with high expectation by Mr. Silverthorne.—Ottawa Citizen.

The Channel Islands

Many Surrendered Much Material When Islands Taken Over

Unconditional surrender of German forces on the Channel Islands, most heavily defended territory in Europe, yielded so much material that it will take weeks to count it. Several small vessels were included in the bag.

The enemy surrendered his arms and various other equipment at various dumps set up over the islands. Such bigger weapons as the guns of 15-inch coastal batteries, tremendous things set in concrete along the buttressed seawall, field pieces and anti-aircraft weapons will remain where they are, however, until they can be dismantled. Most of them are in perfect working condition and have been little used.

There were no submarines captured when a British liberation force took over the islands, but at Jersey at least three U-boats fell into the bag along with at least two heavily armed fish-chips and several small freighters, coasters and tugs.

While the Germans were being shuttled to ships offshore in small craft, thousands of St. Helier citizens packed a theatre to see a production for which everyone had waited for five years. It was called "Happy Release" and was staged by a group of amateurs who had made the capture and scenery and rehearsed under the very noses of the Germans.

The Truth Will Prevail

Bible Society Has Distributed Millions of Copies Of The Scriptures From the British and Foreign Bible Society report 1942-43 (the last issued on account of war) the following figures were taken:

"Since its foundation in 1804 the Bible Society has issued more than 332,244,000 copies of the Scriptures. Of these about 126,284,000 have been in English." Interesting and revealing is the fact that the sole object of the B. & F.B.S. is to encourage the wider circulation of the Scriptures "without note or comment."

Figures from the American Bible Society for 1944 show 12,403,341 copies of the Scriptures distributed—a record for this 120-year-old organization.

To the ordinary reader it would seem that shortly at this rate—everyone in the world would know, first hand, the Scriptures as we in the free countries are privileged to read them.

There are, however, hundreds of languages and dialects for which translations have been and are being made. There is destruction of the Truth, both intentional and accidental and so the work goes on, steadily, surely, as the Master would wish.

Faithful and precise funds that all may have the privilege without cost or any price of drinking from the fountains of truth and being brought and upheld by the living Christ.

Wheat Carry-Over

May Not Be Less Than Three Hundred Million Bushels

The concentration of the greater part of the world's wheat supplies in North America and the heavy demands which are now being made upon this stockpile have served to focus attention on the supply position of Canada and the United States, which the Monthly Review of the Wheat Situation. With only three months of the crop-year remaining in Canada, and despite the determined effort which is made to move the largest possible amount of wheat into export position, it would appear probable that the carry-over at July 31 will not be less than three million bushels.

The sub-tungum carry-over likely in the United States at June 30 has been estimated at 350 million bushels. This prospective combined carry-over in the two countries of 600 million bushels, while only moderately below the 671 million bushels carried over in 1944, is still the lowest mid-summer stock figure since 1940.

Widespread Looting

Polish Art Treasures And Museums Were Plundered

A Tass dispatch from Warsaw said that a document signed by Adolf Hitler had been found ordering that the crowns and scepters of Polish kings be taken to Germany for his own collection.

Describing the opening of an exhibition, "Warsaw Accuses," the dispatch said that the Germans did not even spare a collection of Egyptian mummies in their widespread looting of Polish art treasures and museums.

"In search of gold they destroyed sarcophagi, broke up and threw away the mummies," the dispatch said. "The cost of museum collections of the Polish capital plundered and destroyed by the Germans runs into the billions of dollars."

The exhibit shows mutilated pictures slashed by the Germans, broken statues, smashed pieces of valuable furniture, and pictures of prewar palaces, squares and streets alongside photos of the present ruins.

Strange Gift

Story of A Trophy That Was Presented To Nelson

A newspaper report that the late Sir Hickman Bann, premier baronet and eccentric millionaire, was found to have stored his coffin at Thosok Hall, Gainsborough, for many years recalls the curious story of a gift to Nelson.

After the Battle of the Nile, when the French flagship L'Orient was destroyed in circumstances both known by the poem about the boy on the burning deck, some of her timbers were recovered as souvenirs. Captain Hallowell, in command of H.M.S. Swiftsure, had a coffin fashioned from her mahogany and sent it to Nelson with an explanatory letter. It was, he said, his earnest wish that "when you have finished your military career in this world you may be buried in one of your trophies."

Nelson was by no means upset at receiving such a strange present and gave orders for the coffin to be kept in his cabin. Later it was removed to London and stored with other goods by an upholsterer named James Dods, in Brewer street. It remained there until Trafalgar ended Nelson's career, when it was then used as its purpose, enclosing his remains in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral—Manchester Guardian.

Not All Young

Wing Commander Wm D.F.C. When He Was Sixty-Eight

Is an airman too old at 40? Not at all. Nor at 50, either.

Admiral Squadron Leader Charles Sherring of the R.A.F. has been given a D.F.C. for "courageously attacking any target" at the age of 41. Sherring is a radio operator and a gunner. And not the oldest of them. Squadron Leader W. R. Fielding Johnson, for instance, had to bail out after being hit by flak over his target. He is 52. That's great, his war, Sir Arnold Wilson, M.P., lost his life at the age of 56.

And the most venerable of all this band of gunners is Wing Commander Lionel Cohen, who won the D.F.C. a year ago at 68—London Daily Express.

The night Dave Thorne's mother surprised him packing his bag to run off with Mary Mills, she had a heart attack and never let her hear that Dave didn't get married, of course. A few of the old women said it was his duty to stay with his mother, but most everybody felt that old Mrs. Thorne held the cruellest kind of tyranny over two young lives. And Mary and Dave just made for each other.

It went on like that for ten years. Dave growing out of his boyishness into solid, handsome masculinity. His store and his farm prospered. And more than one summer girl did her best to land him.

But they didn't compare with Mary, warm and serene, and just this side of being out and out beautiful. The years were kind to her russet hair, and some fund of inner strength kept her from having the pined look that comes so often to the faces of women who wait. And the unique dignity of not talking—ever—about Dave's mother and what she'd done to them.

And then at last Mrs. Thorne died one night and the town drew a sigh of relief. Now Mary and Dave would be married and begin the life together they should have had long ago.

But they reckoned without the return of Evangeline Clayton, who'd been a slim, brown-haired youngster when she captured a wealthy summer chap from the Lake Forest colony. She was freshly divorced, wished to be called Eve, and her hair was the color of ripe wheat.

"Why Vangie, your hair! It's dyed."

"Or course," she agreed airily. "Isn't it pretty?"

She proclaimed with equal frankness that she'd come home to look her friends.

When she met Dave on the post office steps her second day she looked up at him and said, "Whom! I'd forgotten there were men like you."

"Maybe there aren't," he said with his slow winning smile. "You look different, Vangie. Your hair's one."

"If you don't like it, I'll change it." "No. It's quite—quite lovely."

She was cute and gay and pet, but she wasn't built to be a wife. But she was ruthless as they come. She just took Dave in tow and he loved it—a salute, sort of, to his new freedom. The town looked on aghast.

Except Mary. After a week she closed the house where she had her aunt lived and carried on a humming antique business with city dealers and summer folks—just lacked a note on the door, "Back August 1st."

Dave drove them over to Frieburg to catch the train—they had no car though Mary had always wanted one—and he came like a sheepdog and snarled. But Vangie fixed that. She planned picnics and moonlight swims

The Yellow Goldrush

Ten Thousand Men Now In The Gold Camp

According to Mr. Geo. F. Gordon, an Edmonton businessman and mining enthusiast when down East recently in search of diamond and equipment, there will be a "gold-rush" in the Yellowknife district like the days of the old Klondike.

At the time of writing we know that airplane passages are being arranged for some 20 leading American and Canadian shareholders to visit mine properties early in June.

A returned visitor tells us that there are at least 10,000 men now in the Gold Camp and now that the snow has disappeared they are scattering to prospect camps and set up drills though shortage of lumber and other materials may force postponement of some plans.

However activity this summer will be at an unprecedented pace. Claims staked number about 35,000 and about 100 have been taken up for $50 financed at least for exploration and drilling.

Mr. Geo. Claywood, a veteran prospector who was with Mr. Gordon in the East, said R.C.M.P. are stationed at strategic points of entry to make sure no dangerous all-weather district unless capable of looking after themselves.

Mr. Gordon feels that if more ore bodies are found there is good reason why a railroad should be built into the territory.

He says that steps are being taken to establish an assay plant and test mill, likely at Yellowknife, which will thus give prospectors quick and reliable results on their findings. At present samples have to be sent all the way to Ottawa for assay.

Mary came back on a Sunday afternoon. There were three of them. A speaking note from Evangeline. Mary's aunt and a city fellow at the wheel with a good pleasant face and nice manners. Not cocky like some.

They bought gas and all stopped for supper at the Rocking Chair House. They laughed a lot and Mary looked happy.

Later that evening Dave drove by Mary's place on the edge of town but the car was still there so he went back home.

Just as regular as milking time, that blue car showed up and Mary all glowing and prettier than she had been in years, ran out to meet the fellow. They'd go for a drive and come back before dark. Dave's smile lost its spirit as it never had during those years of waiting. And when Vangie tried to edge in again he'd brush her off faster than a deer.

The fourth evening just before time for the car to show up he sent Timmer, the good-natured dimwit up on his bike with a note.

Mary didn't send an answer but rehearsed Timmer carefully in the message that she'd come down in the morning. The blue car came and went, and came back again pretty late that night.

And the next morning, Mary's mother never driven before in her life to any person's knowledge, parked the blue car neatly in front of Dave's store.

There's still conjecture about just what happened that car—whether she schemed the whole thing out to bring Dave around or whether as she says, "Well, you surely wouldn't buy a car without learning how to drive it, would you?"

Anyhow it's mighty handy for her. She runs up with the baby to see her aunt most every afternoon. Good friend, she is, too.

An Amazing Feat

Underground in Netherlands Had
Country-Wide Secret Telephone
Service

One of the most amazing feats of the Netherlands underground movement that may be revealed today is the establishment of a country-wide secret telephone network linking up even small villages with the central posts.

The work was done right under the noses of the Germans.

The system was automatic and every one of the larger towns had its own central exchange.

When the Germans blew up the bridges across the IJssel river, underground workers strung a new line, rowing across in a small boat at night.

The Amsterdam engineer responsible for this feat told me:

"We even tapped the Germans' telephone lines. For instance, I heard the conversation between Hitler and the German chief of police in Holland, Walther Rauter, Sept. 7, when Rauter informed the Fuehrer that Brussels had been taken by the Allied forces."

The men who maintained this secret telephone network also tapped German teleprinter lines, thus saving valuable information which was passed on to the Allied forces by means of the Dutch underground telephone lines.

Combat Sawfly

Co-operation of Farmers Needed To Fight This Insect Pest

Campaign against the worst stem borer, which caused a loss to 10 per cent of the crop, was launched by the Saskatchewan farmers of $18,000,000 in 1943, is being carried vigorously in districts of heavy infestation, according to a statement by S. H. Vigor, provincial field crops commissioner.

Plans for the drive against this crop pest were formulated last fall, and a series of meetings have been held during the winter in the southwest areas of the province, where the sawfly menace is the worst. Provincial and federal agricultural experts co-operated in explaining to farmers best methods for combating this insect pest. Effectiveness of the campaign will depend largely on the efforts put forth by the farmers themselves as best results are attained if the problem is attacked on a community basis.

Trap strips, early seeding of cereals such as oats and barley, with wheat soon later, is the system prescribed by the department as most efficacious for dealing with the sawfly. Late sown wheat becomes less infested than earlier sown wheat. This is a reversal of the usual procedure in seeding, but has been found most effective in fighting the sawfly.

Bugs, fungus and other garden pests are easily kept in control if all gardeners—consult a government expert—follow the same plan. The following are applied immediately after first signs of infestation:

1. All flowers and vegetables like delphinium, hollyhocks, tomatoes, etc., should be thinned so as to give them space to prevent wind and other storm damage. Clipping and burning of weeds, grass and other similar things should be supported by brush, wire or strings.

To encourage continuous flowering, buds should be picked before they open. In the case of flowers, ordinarily used for cutting purposes.

To build up either light or heavy soil is an excellent thing to do in or close under that farm, call "green manure." This is simply growing green crops like clover, alfalfa, etc., and removing them and using them as a compost heap and the soil made is excellent for flower beds and vegetable plots.

OLD FASHION DISCOUNTED

The old opinion that eating between meals is harmful has long ground steadily. Efficiency experts in war have found that snacks during rest periods are beneficial to the general well-being of their employees.

Energy food at mid-morning and afternoon enables the workers to maintain a high production level.

Farm Problems
A Film Which May Prove Important
To Rural Audiences

Canadian farmers have faced the problems of both depression and prosperity in the 20 years since the end of the first World War. These problems and how they were met are the subject of "The Business of Farming," one of the films on the May and June programs of the National Film Board Rural Circuits.

"The Business of Farming" shows the different factors that determine the farmer's costs both of living and of running his farm, and compares these costs with farm income in the years from 1920 on. All too often exaggerated the amount brought in by the seasons' crop—because the price of agricultural machinery never went down with the farmer's decreased ability to pay for it, and the market price of grain and live stock went up with increased demand, and not with increased costs of production.

During the hard years after 1920, surplus stores of grain steadily mounted in Canada, and the market price of grain and live stock went up with increased demand, and not with increased costs of production. An understanding of what lay behind farm difficulties in the twenties and thirties is important if past mistakes are to be avoided and present prosperity maintained. "The Business of Farming" is a production to review the chief features of this period and to encourage community discussion of post-war agricultural problems.

Values Publicity
Life Insurance Companies Favors
Newspaper Advertising Above
Other Media

The value placed on newspaper advertising by life insurance companies was stressed by R. Leighton Foster, K.C., general counsel of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association at a luncheon meeting of the Underwriters' Sales Congress.

"Twenty-five years ago the Canadian life insurance business began to advertise as an institution in the newspapers of Canada," he said. "It was a co-operative enterprise among the various companies, and its aim was to show Canadians how life insurance operates with its public and national characteristics and its benefits. That was the first institutional advertising done by any type of business, not only in Canada, but in the world. Although radio, motion pictures and other media have an obvious appeal, the foundation of our institutional public relations program has remained the press, and we feel that it will continue to be so."

Each month now we are using publications with a total circulation of more than five million.

Through our newspaper advertising we are trying to show Canadians what their life insurance is doing, and how well it is working without benefit of any government subsidy, as a voluntary method of personal security at minimum expense, and with maximum advantages, under government regulation, but free from political influences."

NEW INDUSTRY

A woman in Chittawack, B.C. is reported raising silkworms on ornamental trees in her backyard and keeping her family in silk stockings. Still, the point of the culture of mulberry trees and silkworms will spread widely in Canada. Even under wartime conditions, it takes less money to stand in a stocking line than to grow trees and silkworms and then do a spot of spinning—Edmonton Journal.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED YOUR CHILDREN FORFAMILY ALLOWANCES?

1,200,000 FAMILIES have already registered for Family Allowances. Approximately 100,000 families who are entitled to register and who will benefit, have not yet registered.

Family Allowances cheques will be mailed in July.

If you want to receive your first cheque, register now. If you delay your registration any longer, it may not be possible to deal with your application in time to send you the first cheque.

If you have children under 16 and if your income is under $3,000 a year, you will benefit from Family Allowances. If you have not registered, and intend to do so, please act at once! Family Allowances Registration forms have been mailed to every family. They can be obtained at the nearest post office or by writing to the Regional Director of Family Allowances in the capital of your province.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES AND INCOME TAX

When the Family Allowances Act was passed, Parliament approved the principle that there should be no duplication of benefits by way of Family Allowances and Income Tax credits for the same child.

Family Allowances cheques will be paid in full every month. But for the last six months of 1945 an adjustment will be made to avoid duplication of benefits. The table below shows the effect of this adjustment and will enable taxpayers to determine the extent to which they will benefit from Family Allowances.

TABLE SHOWING EFFECT OF ADJUSTMENT FOR 1945

AMOUNT OF TAXABLE INCOME	PERCENT BY WHICH TAXPAYERS WILL BENEFIT FROM FAMILY ALLOWANCES IN ADDITION TO PRESENT INCOME TAX CREDITS, FOR 1945.
Not over $1200	100%
Over $1200 but not over 1400	90%
" 1400 " " 1600	80%
" 1600 " " 1800	70%
" 1800 " " 2000	60%
" 2000 " " 2200	50%
" 2200 " " 2400	40%
" 2400 " " 2600	30%
" 2600 " " 2800	20%
" 2800 " " 3000	10%
" 3000	0%

NOTE:—This table applies to married persons and others having the status of married persons for income tax purposes. For the relatively small number of single persons receiving Family Allowances and not having married status for income tax purposes, and for members of the Armed Forces, special tables can be obtained from the Regional Director of Family Allowances in each provincial capital.

The BENEFITS: The Family Allowances Act was passed to help equalize opportunities for all children. The monthly allowances will assist in providing medical, dental and nursing services, better food, better clothing and shelter.

Family Allowances are additional to dependents' allowances for servicemen's families and military pensions.

Furthermore, Family Allowances are NOT taxable. You do not add these monthly payments to your total income when computing your income tax.

In the column at left is an explanation of the relationship between Family Allowances and Income Tax deductions for children. From the table given you can determine quickly the extent to which you will benefit.

REGISTER NOW!

If you intend to apply for Family Allowances but have not already done so, please act at once—in the interests of your children! Remember, the first cheques will be mailed in July, but only to those who have registered and are eligible to receive Family Allowances.

SCALE OF MONTHLY ALLOWANCES FOR THE FIRST FOUR CHILDREN

For each child
Under 6	$5.00
From 6 to 9 (inclusive)	6.00
From 10 to 12 (inclusive)	7.00
From 13 to 15 (inclusive)	8.00

Where there are more than four children for each child after the fourth will be reduced in accordance with the provisions of the Family Allowances Act.
